

Alien Spacecraft at Work? - The Telegraph 10th March 2017

Introduction

Scientists at Harvard-Smithsonian Centre for Astrophysics are about to publish their "findings" on mysterious energy flashes detected in deep space billions of light years away that they say could be caused by a species of super-advanced aliens firing up their interstellar spacecraft.

I have responded to this matter in a short article bearing witness to the God given truth about our universe and the existence of any other life form outside of planet Earth.

You may get a kick out of it - but I hope you will take it to heart next time someone suggests aliens are coming.
